

Contact with Human Blood

The University of Florida's Bloodborne Pathogen Program requires participation by all employees and non-employees (students, volunteers, affiliates, etc.) who have occupational exposure to bloodborne pathogens, to include exposure to any blood or bodily fluids..

Employees for whom the above is applicable will be required to take the following trainings on or before their first day:

- EHS850C - Clinical
- EHS850G - General

The vaccine for hepatitis B shall be offered at no cost to employees identified as at-risk for occupational exposure to bloodborne pathogens. Vaccine refusal shall be documented by the employee signing the Hepatitis B Vaccine Declination statement. Refusal of the vaccine is not final and the employee may request vaccination at any future time.